Strange Streetlamps

1 Read the story and answer the questions below:

Jenny was walking home late one night after a party at a friend's house. She was feeling tired and she really wanted to get to bed, so she walked under the big black ladder against the wall without thinking. She wasn't superstitious and she's never had any bad luck from these things.

So she continued walking but as she was passing under a streetlamp, it suddenly turned off. It was strange but not really a problem. When she was getting closer to the next streetlamp it also turned off. She thought it was weird but she wasn't scared. Yet.

When she arrived at the third streetlamp it turned off, too. Now she was scared. She looked back to where the ladder was and ... there was no ladder there! She crossed her fingers and started running and every time she passed under a streetlamp it turned off. She didn't stop until she got home. When she walked in through the front door the light turned on! She screamed... aaaagh!

1. Where was the party? How was Jenny feeling after the party?
2. What two things did she do connected with superstitions?
3. What happened when she got to the first streetlamp?
4. How many streetlamps did this happen to before she looked back?
5. What did she see when she looked back?
6. What happened when she walked into her house? How did she feel then?

Why Candidates Fail to Get the Job

They exaggerate their skills and experience in their resumes and job application

They display a lack of enthusiasm and confidence in the interview

They want to know what the company can do for them and not what they can do for the company

They do not focus on their strengths and their value

They fail to communicate successfully and establish rapport with the interviewer

They don't research the company and prepare properly for the interview

Show your palms.

This gesture indicates sincerity and for centuries has been linked to honesty and submission.

Press your fingertips together.

This display of confidence is often exhibited by self-assured politicians and executives.

Do not hold your palms down.

This is a sign of dominance and you should be careful to not shake hands with your palms downward.

Do not conceal your hands.

When your hands are in your lap or your pockets it looks like you have something to hide.

Do not tap your fingers.

This behavior shows impatience, which is likely not the attitude you want to portray.

Do not cross your arms.

This is a very defensive posture and it's best to appear open and agreeable.

ACTIVITY N°2: READ AND TRANSLATE INTO SPANISH THE APPLICATION LETTER THAT IS BELOW.

Dear Sir/Madam,

This letter is in reference to the advertisement published in ABC news for the post of a teacher for intermediate level. I would like to work as a teacher for the intermediate level with your organization.

Although I do not have any previous experience of professional teaching yet, I do have prior experience of interacting with the students and understanding their basic problems and finding solution of the same. During my professional courses, I was taught to interact with the students in the way which makes it interesting to learn and I follow the same procedure while teaching. With a degree in education and the proper ways of teaching, I aim towards understanding the needs of the student and their fears and problems so that I can help them overcome them. Also, my teaching process is lucid enough enabling the students to thoroughly understand the concepts.

Thus, it is my earnest request to you to please consider my candidature for the post of teacher in the intermediate level. Please find my resume attached with my cover letter for your kind perusal. Please let me know when I can expect a call to discuss the issue.

Thanking you,

With regards

(name of the applicant)
